INDIANS FIGHTING.

The Bloods and Stoneys Fire Upon Each Other.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

Morley, N. W. T., Oct. 27.—On Monday while eight lodges of Stoney Indians, under Chief Chiniki, were hunting between Sheep Creek and High River, Hector Chiniki was stopped by the Bloods and asked to smoke. Upon refusing he was fired upon. He returned the fire with a rifle, firing thirteen shots. He was shot in the thigh, and upon being wounded retreated to the band. The same night, Susie, another Stoney of the same band, was heading horses and was suddenly fired upon and shot in the breast by the Bloods. The Stoneys thereupon returned the fire, but were unable to ascertain what damage they inflicted. It is supposed to be severe as the Stoneys are deadly shots with rifles.

Scores of alarming rumors are being circulated.

JEWELRY PEDDLER.

A Still Hunt on Government Street—Suspicious Parties Interviewed.

On Friday morning two men entered a well-known boot and shoe store on Government street and enquired for five cents worth of shoe laces. One of the men wore a gold plated watch chain which he offered to the salesman for $5. The salesman did not want the chain but gladly gave the man two large American dollars for it. When the men left the buyer noticed a tag attached to the chain and visions of being arrested as a receiver of stolen property loomed up in his mind. He immediately telephoned the police, and officers Lindsay and Mitten were detailed to find the men. They came down to Government street on the double and noticing two individuals at the Adelphi corner, crossed over and engaged in conversation with them. The individuals were a contractor and a newspaper reporter, both too poor to own even a gold plated watch chain. They were suspicious looking individuals, however, and the officers stayed with them for some time. After a conversation regarding the Italian climate and the probability of one of the officers becoming chief of police, the parties separated. In a short time the men were found and escorted before Superintendent Sheppard. It was discovered that they were peddlers of cheap jewelry, and after paying a license fee they were allowed to depart.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

Size of Woman's Heart—Moody and other Moods.

Mr. Moody, the great evangelist has come and gone, and it's to be hoped that he has left some lasting impressions on the Major's fair friends, the ladies, as well as the masculine being, man. A German fellow has discovered that the man's heart is larger and heavier than the like article possessed by the fair ones. This is of course from a dull German standpoint, and must relate to the dull Germans themselves. Their hearts are heavier, we need not be told that. Had the learned man came to Victoria and weighed and measured some of the ladies hearts he'd have found them big and light enough to suit. The Major must stand up for the fair ones of Victoria. What big hearts, capable of receiving any amount of impressions, and overflowing with sympathy, bursting with good nature, and as light as a feather! The two which sat behind the Major in the Tabernacle, say less than three weeks ago, to judge from outward appearances, the countenance expressing joy, love and sorrow in unison with the good preacher's feelings as he told in his plain way the good story of old, must have encased in their venus like ebodiment hearts both large, light and gay. The German man evidently does not know much about female anatomy; if he had only examined the two referred to, he'd have told a different tale.

No matter what a tobacco-saturated, garlic-smelling, bologne-guzzling, blue-spectacled Teuton may say to the contrary, the Major's fair friends have the right kind of hearts; be they small or big, the right stuff is there. He has seen and experienced proof positive of what he asserts. Of late his experience of the article has been large, especially during the past week. What but good natured, sympathetic, loving hearts would have devoted time and leisure to getting up the work for the church sale the other day, and mustn't the hearts that have braved the rage of the elements in eager haste, to purchase of the articles of their sisters handiwork, have encouraged them to labor more diligently in the cause of the church. 'Tis the like of this that elevates the heart and soul and adds to the joys of this life. Carried out in its true sense, 'tis fellowship of the heavenly kind, a slight imitation of that other fellowship where "saints immortal reign."

Mr. Moody has told the ladies so much for their benefit that the Major finds it very hard to shove a word in. But he never told them how charming they looked. That's where he missed it. Had he done so his mission would have been a triumphant success. We are all susceptible to a little blarney laid on delicately and lightly, which requires a practical hand. Now blarney is all very well in its way, but when a man, of God in the tabernacle observes a couple of the fairest of his flock away down near the seat of the lowly and humble, where the Major sits, and elevates the blushing flower of the flock away up near the penitent bench, which was contaminated by the presence of those newspaper fellows, that's not blarney, its something else. There's an example where blarney becomes offensive. The object is too glaring.

That newspaper man on Government street has a sheet for every wind. He has one for the spirit of the great truths of the doctrine once delivered to the saints, another for the spiritualistic doctrine, another for morality, a la Menzies, and another for perverting and vilifying. Let us pray that the unrighteous man may forsake the evil of his ways. "By their works shall ye know them," saith the scripture. Ditto says

FROM VANCOUVER.

Two Accidents—Dissatisfaction of Purchasers of Land, &c., &c.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Vancouver, Oct. 26—The weather is very fine to-day. There is a light coat of snow on the mountain tops to the north of the Inlet.

Much dissatisfaction is being expressed by purchasers of Provincial Government land at the late sale, who have since learned that they are now expected to pay extra for the timber on their lands if they wish to command it.

Thursday evening, Mr. Schmidt, late steward of the steamship Parthia, met with a serious accident by slipping on a crossing on Water street and fracturing his right leg between the ankle and the knee, and dislocating his ankle so badly that the foot was completely reversed. The unfortunate man was carried to the residence of his friend, Mrs. Lanbery, whence he was going when he fell, and Drs. Bell-Irving and Robertson set the fractured and dislocated limb. Mr. Schmidt is about 52 years of age and had just resigned his position on the Parthia.

Another painful accident occurred to Mr. Sincock, who was superintending the transfer of cargo from the Danube to the Parthia. He was struck by a sack of flour from the shoot and thrown down on some iron freight receiving considerable injury.

A practical game of football was played on the recreation grounds yesterday afternoon. The fifteen chosen to play the Westminsters to-morrow were matched against the all comers and won by three tries to nothing.

The Vancouver Water Works Co.'s report that hydrants have been placed at the corners of Hastings street and Westminster avenue, Abbott and Water streets, and they now await the arrival of the four-inch pipe from Victoria to place the remaining ones. The long tunnel, 290 feet in length, in the canyon, is nearly completed, and the short tunnel 160 feet, is completed, as is also the excavation through the government reserve. There is a probability of having the water turned on by Christmas.

To-day Professor Zummir and Dr. S. Miller were summoned before M. A. McLean, Esq., J. P., on a charge of practicing medicine in this province without a license, or provincial certificate; the former agreed to settle the matter amicably, but the latter did not appear and his case was remanded till to-morrow.

AFTERNOON WIRINGS.

Minister West Will Probably be Recalled—Great Democratic Parade.

The Samoan Trouble—A Letter from Powderly—Disturbance at a Meeting.

New York, Oct. 26.—The following is Minister West's reply to the letter from Pomona, Cala., signed Chas. H. Murchison, asking how the writer, who described himself of English birth, should vote in the coming election.

"(Private.) Beverly, Mass.,
Sept. 13, 1888.

"SIR.—I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., and beg to say that I fully appreciate the difficulty in which you find yourself in casting your vote. You are probably aware that any political party which openly favored the mother country at the present moment would lose popularity, and that the party in power is fully aware of this fact. The party, however, is, I believe, still desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, and is still as desirous of settling all questions with Canada which have been unfortunately re-opened since the retraction of the treaty by the Republican majority in the Senate, and by the President's message to which you allude. An allowance must therefore be made for the political situation as regards the presidential election thus created. It is, however, impossible to predict the course which President Cleveland may pursue in the matter of retaliation, should he be elected; but there is every reason to believe that while upholding the position he has taken he will manifest a spirit of conciliation in dealing with the question involved in his message. I enclose an article from the New York Times of August 22nd, and remain, yours faithfully,

(Signed) "L. S. SACKVILLE WEST."

Secretary Bayard, speaking of the letter, said: While there must be a consensus of opinion as to the impropriety of expression of individual views by anyone holding the position of foreign envoy, it is still to be hoped that we will be able to settle the issues involved in the pending canvass without the importation of foreign interferences or intermeddling in our domestic affairs. The American people will be prompt to resent and repel as impertinent any such attempts, but they will easily recognize the political pitfall arranged by the California letter with its object so plainly stamped on its face, and addressed to the British minister, into which he has so surprisingly tumbled. Such petty schemes to break the fall of despairing politicians will be held in its proper estimation by popular intelligence.

Minister West being interviewed said: "The letter sent me from California was undoubtedly written for the purpose of entrapping me. In a few days I expect to be in a position to make public the manner in which the affair was planned, and the identity of the persons concerned in it. The efforts which are being directed to the discovery of the tricksters were instigated by me, and I think I shall succeed in making everything plain. This affair reveals to me a new phase in the ways of the American politician—ways that in this instance are distasteful to me. In other American ways I delight, but I would like to be excused from having anything to do with politics in the United States."

Senator Morgan (Democrat) says: "When Mr. West attempts to construe the President's attitude and to advise an American citizen as to the disposition of his political franchise he is guilty of unwarrantable interference with the affairs of this country. His decisions are based on nothing, and his conclusions are absolutely false." The Senator thought there were some elements of treason, very small and insignificant treason to be sure, but something of that sort in an American citizen and a British Minister trying to affect the casting of a vote to the best interests of England. He did not think Mr. West would appreciate an impropriety like that. Senator Morgan thought there should be no official notice taken of his utterances, and he believed that the President thought so too.

Blaine speaking at Madison Square Gardens read the letter, in which the California writer states to Mr. Sackville West that his faith has been shaken by President Cleveland's administration, and writes to the British Minister to dissolve his doubt, and Mr. West says to the California man that the recent proceedings of the President is only a little by-play which does not mean anything. He need not be afraid and all other English voters can go ahead with perfect confidence.

"Three ministers of the United States," resumed Blaine, "certainly two, have had their walking papers for offences less than that, and to-night, if an American minister to England should write to an English voter advising him to support either side as one favorable to the United States he would be politely invited to sail home by the next steamer."

The Washington correspondent of the Herald telegraphs this morning that it is understood that Lord Sackville West, British Minister, will be recalled because of his letter on American politics.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that the election of a U. S. President is purely a domestic matter in which England has no desire to influence.

MINISTER WEST TO RETIRE.

London, Oct. 27—Some excitement was manifested in diplomatic circles over the Sackville-West incident. Salisbury is at at present absent from the Foreign Office. Phelps has gone to Oatkled, the Premier's country residence, to confer with the latter. Salisbury favors the retirement of Sackville-West from the office of British Minister at Washington.

London, Oct. 27—The greatest reticence was observed at the United States Legation here concerning the Sackville incident. The Secretary of the Legation refuses to furnish any information concerning the matter for publication.

MRS. BLAINE IMPROVING.

New York, Oct. 27—Mrs. J. G. Blaine, Jr., is reported to be considerably improved this morning.

HALL M'ALLISTER'S CONDITION.

New York, Oct. 27—The condition of Hall McAllister, a wealthy lawyer of San Francisco who is ill at the residence of his son-in-law, 13 Grammercy Park, is unchanged since yesterday.

THE SAMOAN TROUBLE.

San Francisco, Oct. 27.—The steamer Alameda arrived from Sydney this morning bringing news of the state of affairs at Samoa after the battle with King Tamasese. After the native chiefs had crowned Molestoa Mataafa King, the Consuls were notified. The King was asked to take steps to prevent any injury to European or American residents. This he did by issuing a proclamation announcing severe punishment for any one injuring any of the whites. The proclamation has been strictly followed by the natives and in the whole affair no white men were hurt. Capt. Bissett, of the British schooner Vindex, was killed by a stray bullet during the battle. Skirmishing has frequently taken place among the opposing forces in which many have been killed.

ANOTHER TRAIN GOES OVER.

Charleston, Va., Oct. 27—A passenger train on the Chesspeake & Ohio Railway jumped the track about half a mile from here this morning. The fireman and engineer were killed. Four cars, including a sleeper, were destroyed. The mail and baggage were lost. The accident was caused by a misplaced switch by unknown parties.

THIRTEEN WHALERS IN THE ICE.

San Francisco, Oct. 27—The whaling bark James A. Howland, which arrived from the Arctic this morning, reports that the catch of the whaling fleet of 33 vessels to October 1st, was 122 whales. Thirteen vessels of the fleet have become imprisoned in the ice and there is little likelihood of their ever getting out again. Their crews have undoubtedly abandoned them by this time and are endeavoring to save themselves. The loss of the vessels and their catches will cause a pecuniary loss of over a quarter of a million dollars.

FIRE IN MONTANA.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 27—A fire which started in a planing mill this morning destroyed the mill which was owned by Cibauer & Yergy, then spread to the three-story business block opposite, which was also destroyed. The total loss is $100,000. Almost all covered by insurance.

GERMAN SPY CONVICTED.

Paris, Oct. 27—The German spy who was arrested at Nice on a charge of sketching fortifications and stealing a Lebel rifle, was to-day found guilty and sentenced to five years penal servitude.

WHEAT MARKET.

San Francisco, Oct. 27—Wheat is quiet. Buyer 1888, 169 3-8; Nov. 162; Dec. 165 1-4.

New York, Oct. 27—The week closed on a higher wheat market. Oct. 113 1-2; Nov. 114; Dec. 115 3-4; May 120 7-8.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The strength of the past few days was maintained in the wheat market to-day. Nov. 116 1-2; Dec. 117 3-4 and 118; May 119.

POWDERLY'S LETTER.

Pittsburg, Oct. 27—General Master Workman Powderly has written a letter to the window glass workers assembly, which placed three speakers in the field to advocate Harrison and Morton's election. He says: "If the glassworkers think they are right he doesn't intend to question their course." Powderly says: "That while he individually favors protection, he cannot openly advocate the election of Cleveland."

BATTLE OF THE RAILWAY.

Winnipeg, Oct. 27—The injunction case of the Canadian Pacific railway was argued to-day in court, and there is no doubt from Judge Avery's manner, that the injunction will be dissolved. The government has made full preparations for this contingency, and have a large force of special constables and volunteers from different parts of the Province prepared to rush to the scene and lay the track. In addition to a local force 400 navvies working on the Northern Pacific are reported to be approaching the city on a special train. Some people advocate that the Canadian Pacific property be taken possession of and all traffic stopped in order to force the company to terms. The strain can not last much longer and the crisis will certainly be reached to-day when it is expected that Judge Avery will render his decision.

THE EMPEROR WILL NOT VISIT MADRID.

London, Oct. 26—It has been decided that Emperor William's visit to Spain shall not take place until spring, but the probabilities are that it will not take place even then. The reasons for the postponement are that he could not take a direct land route to Madrid without traveling the entire length of France, which it obviously would be impossible for him to do, nor could he reach the Spanish capital by a sea journey without passing through the English Channel. Should he take the latter route he must necessarily, as a matter of decency, land in England. Not to do so would unquestionably increase the tension between the London and Berlin courts. While a visit to the British Isles at this time would be quite as repugnant to his feelings, if not altogether as barren of enthusiasm, not to say fruitful of insult, as would his passage through France.

BYE-ELECTION IN WALES.

The parliamentary election at Merthyr Tydvil to-day resulted in the return of Mr. Morgan by a vote of 7,140 to 4,956 for Mr. Griffiths. Both candidates are Gladstonians.

A CONSTITUTION WANTED.

Belgrade, Oct. 26—The King has issued a proclamation declaring a constitution necessary, and asking the members of all parties to unite in the work of its preparation and promulgation. Elections for the new Skupstchina will take place on December 2d, and that body will meet on December 13.

RUSSIAN PAPERS CONDEMN KING MILAN.

St. Petersburg, Oct 26—The press here denounce King Milan for the manner in which he procured a divorce from Queen Natalie, and declare the decree illegal. The Queen is urged to appeal to the heads of the Greek church to annul the decision of Metropolitan Theodosius.

FIFTY YEARS IN POLITICS.

Berlin, Oct 26—Emperor William yesterday sent congratulations to M. De-Giers, Russian Foreign Minister, who celebrated the 50th anniversary of his political life.

THE SULTAN WILL SIGN.

Constantinople, Oct. 26—The Sultan has consented to sign the Suez Canal convention.

DISTURBANCE AT A MEETING.

Paris, Oct. 27—Forty persons were severely injured during the disturbance last night at a Boulangerist meeting. Boulangerist newspapers charge the police with bringing about the disturbance and allege the police are desirous of interrupting in a similar way. A banquet will be held to day at which Boulanger will be present.

MR. MOODY'S MISSION.

Mr. D. L. Moody, the evangelist, concluded his mission services last evening. The audience was the largest that has attended the rink, which goes a long way to prove the power and effect his lectures have had on the minds of the people. In the past fourteen days, night after night, the crowds braved the weather and endured patiently the disagreeable inconveniences of the roller rink, in order to listen to the words of gospel truth spoken by the evangelist. Apart from many other indications, this fact in itself speaks loudly in favor of the assertion that the preaching of the mission has taken hold on the minds of a large number of the citizens. The preaching was neither learned nor eloquent, but it had the power of going direct to the heart. Mr. Moody possesses the rare gift of being able to carry his audience along with him. The persuasive, pleading tones, the simple illustrations of scripture tales told in our every-day language, the straightforward, outspoken bluntness of the speaker, captivated most of those who were privileged to hear him. Mr. Moody possesses a fund of anecdote, which he aptly applies to his subject; whether it be of the home life or the battle-field, all are equally interesting and instructive, and tell with a sympathetic audience. He simply preached Christ and Him crucified, warned all against the besetting snares which surround our social life, and pointed out the simple remedy, "Come to Jesus." In his discourses he abstained from going into doctrinal points of the Christian faith, and relied on the "enquiry room" to place erring ones on the road to Christ. We are safe in saying that during the mission hundreds took that road to salvation. So far the effect has been beneficial. It only remains for the resident ministers to earnestly keep the good work alive. The waters have been agitated and will exert their virtue if applied. A God-fearing, community tends towards the elevation of social life, creates a bond of frendship and brotherly love and that Christian fellowship without which all the preaching in Christendom is unavailing. Vice, depravity and unbelief can have no strong foothold, nor will it be boasted of openly. The pillory of a moral public opinion is severe, and when applied puts down forever any tendency to open advocacy of opinions and practices at variance with right.

WHAT DOES IT MATTER?

Our contemporaries are somewhat unduly exercised in regard to the distribution of the representation of the province in the Dominion Senate. According to the Terms of Union British Columbia is entitled to three senators, but unfortunately for the political and commercial unity of the province, British Columbia is composed of two parts—Vancouver Island and the "Mainland"—and it is of course a physical impossibility to apportion the senatorial representation in such a manner that one section will not have an apparent preponderance over the other. Hitherto the mainland has had two senators and the Island one, and that arrangement has been perpetuated by the recent appointment of Mr. Jas. Reid to the vacancy created by the appointment of Hon. H. Nelson to the Lieutenant Governorship. Our esteemed friend on Government street professes to see in this inequality grave danger to the interests of Vancouver Island, and with a vigor that would be no discredit to the Arizona Kicker protests against a continuation of the system. While agreeing with the Colonist that the interests of the island are paramount and that our island representation is out of all proportion to the importance of the vast and varied interests concerned, we are at the same time of opinion that it does not matter very much whether the respectable elderly gentlemen, who are occasionally rewarded for subserviency to the government, come from the island or mainland. They are practically of little account any way, and will register the views of the government that has given them a life sinecure even though in so doing they are acting against the districts they are supposed to represent. For any use they are to the country or to their constituents they might just as well come from Timbuctoo.

WHERE ARE THE MILLIONS?

It is conjectured by a Vancouver paper that the sum realized from the sale of the public lands near the terminal city will amount to $70,000. Allowing a reasonable amount for exaggeration, expenses, commissions, &c., the actual amount turned over to the province will possibly reach $60,000, or about the cost of a court house like the pile on Bastion square. This little donation will of course come in very handy to a government which raises a revenue to pay salaries by increasing taxes, borrowing money and selling every provincial piece of property they can lay their hands on, but still the amount is very far short of the millions which we were lead to expect from these quarters. Everyone whose memory retains the events of two or three years ago will remember with what spread-eagle eloquence the provincial secretary pictured the glittering millions which would eventually be gathered from the lands adjacent to Coal Harbor, if the grant of nine square miles were made to the railway company. The grant was made, but where are the millions for the treasury? The present assessed value of the real estate transferred from the province by that famous bargain is many "millions," but how much consolation is there in that to the taxpayers of British Columbia? It is questionable if the paltry $60,000 realized from the sale of lands the other day would half pay the expenses of legislation, and the almost interminable enquiries into the squatters claims, etc., which were brought about by the bungling of the government. The more this matter is gone into the more plainly it becomes that the man who engineered it was a financeering as well as a moral humbug.

OUR "OLD HUTCH."

The eastern press is just now discussing the price of flour, which they say is not due to the scarcity of wheat. It was known that the crop would be short and people would naturally have to pay more for their flour this year than they did last, but the heavy advance in prices, which is so severely felt by many people, "is due almost entirely to the fact that the market has fallen into the hands of speculators who are manipulating it to their own advantage. Everyone who pays several dollars a barrel more for his flour this year than he did last will contribute the principal part of the advance toward the millions that are going into the pockets of "Old Hatch" of Chicago, and of people engaged in similar pursuits in New York, Montreal, and elsewhere." We would suggest that the same argument which is applied to wheat on the other coast can be applied to coal on this. The price of fuel is "not due to a scarcity" of coal. The trouble is that by the Australian supply being cut off at San Francisco the market there has "fallen into the hands of speculators," and every one who "pays several dollars more" for his coal this year than he did last "will contribute so much to the millions" that are going into the pockets of the mine owners. We do not see that the much condemned "Hutch" of Chicago is a great deal worse than his local imitators.

The TIMES has no desire to take any part in the squabbles of the Vancouver papers, but it cannot help noticing that the youthful daily is more anxious to make a point against its contemporary than to earn a name for scrupulous honesty. Referring to the broad charge made against the press generally by Mr. Justice Begbie, when he stated that it was conducted "by men of no means, scanty education and a vulgar turn of mind," the World with studied falsity says it was applied to the News-Advertiser. No one knows better than the paper making the statement, or the sleepy old time server in this city who repeats it, that this is as false as it can be. The charge was made generally and as proof of it the press was not slow in taking it up.

What a Pretty Baby.

Is it a boy or a girl? How often do we hear this remark and question. Yes it is a pretty baby, but how bad its mother looks. She looks as if she were going right down. She is so thin and yellow, and her face is covered with wrinkles and blotches. She seems so nervous and irritable too; but it is easy to account for her condition. Child-birth has left her with prolapsus or other displacements, poisoned b'ood and a disordered state of the stomach and bowels. The best thing she can do is to use at once Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which has been prepared for the express need of women in this condition. All druggists.

Dr. Pierce's pellets—cleanse and regulate the stomach, bowels and system generally. 25 cents a vial; one a dose. wed sat

TABERNACLE PULPIT.

REV. DR. TALMAGE'S SUNDAY MORNING DISCOURSE.

The Mathematics of the Holy Scriptures. The Figure Seven Crowned Above All Others—An Imperial and Multipotent Numeral.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 21.—This morning at the Tabernacle, the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., gave a running commentary on the twentieth chapter of Revelations, concerning the chaining of the old dragon. The congregation joined in singing the familiar hymn of Paul Gerhart, beginning:

Give to the winds thy fears,
Hope and be undismayed.

Dr. Talmage's sermon was on "Seven in the Bible," and his text Genesis ii, 22: "God blessed the seventh day." The preacher said:

The mathematics of the Bible is noticeable: the geometry and the arithmetic: the square in Ezekiel: the circle spoken of in Isaiah: the curve alluded to in Job: the rule of fractions mentioned in Daniel: the rule of loss and gain in Mark where Christ asks the people to cipher out by that rule what it would "profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his soul." But there is one mathematical figure that is crowned above all others in the Bible. It is the numeral seven, which the Arabians got from India and all following ages have taken from the Arabians. It stands between the figure six and the figure eight. In the Bible, all the other numerals bow to it. Over three hundred times it is mentioned in the Scriptures, either alone or compounded with other words. In Genesis the week is rounded into seven days, and I use my text because there this numeral is for the first introduced in a journey which halts not until in the close of the Book of Revelations its monument is built into the wall of heaven in crysolite which in the strata of precious stones is the seventh. In the Bible we find that Jacob had to serve seven years to get Rachel, but she was well worth it; and foretelling the years of prosperity and famine in Pharaoh's time the seven fat oxen were eaten up of the seven lean oxen: and wisdom is said to be built on seven pillars; and the ark was left with the Philistines seven years; and Naaman for the cure of his leprosy plunged in the Jordan seven times; the dead child, when Elisha breathed into its mouth, signaled its arrival back into consciousness by sneezing seven times: to the house that Ezekiel saw in vision there were seven steps; the walls of Jericho before they fell down were compassed seven days; Zachariah describes a stone with seven eyes; to cleanse a leprous house the door must be sprinkled with pigeon's blood seven times; in Canaan were overthrown seven nations; on one occasion Christ cast out seven devils; on on a mountain he fed a multitude of people with seven loaves, the fragments left filling seven baskets; and the closing passages of the Bible are magnificent and overwhelming with the imagery made up of seven churches, seven stars, seven candlesticks, seven seals, seven angels, and seven heads, and seven crowns, and seven horns, and seven spirits, and seven vials, and seven plagues, and seven thunders.

Yes, this numerical seven seems a favorite with the divine mind outside as well as inside the Bible, for are there not seven prismatic colors? And when God with the rainbow wrote the comforting thought that the world would never have another deluge, he wrote it on the scroll of the sky in ink of seven colors. He grouped into the Pleiades seven stars. Rome, the capital of the world, sat on seven hills. When God would make the most intelligent thing on earth, the human countenance, he fashions it with seven features—the two ears, the two eyes, the two nostrils and the mouth. Yea, our body lasts only seven years, and we gradually shed it for another body after another seven years, and so on, for we are as to our bodies, sentential animals. So the numeral seven ranges through nature and through revelation. It is the number of perfection, and so I use it while I speak of the seven candlesticks, the seven stars, the seven seals and the seven thunders.

The seven golden candlesticks were and are the churches. Mark you, the churches never were, and never can be, candles. They are only candlesticks. They are not the light, but they are to hold the light. A room in the night might have in it five hundred candlesticks, and yet you could not see your hand before your face. The only use of a candlestick, and the only use of a church, is to hold up the light. You see it is a dark world, the night of sin, the night of trouble, the night of superstition, the night of persecution, the night of poverty, the night of sickness, the night of death; aye, about fifty nights have interlocked their shadows. The whole race goes stumbling over prostrated hopes and fallen fortunes, and empty flour barrels, and desolated cradles, and death beds. Oh, how much we have use for all the seven candlesticks, with lights blazing from the top of each one of them! Light of pardon for all sin! Light of comfort for all trouble! Light of encouragement for all despondency! Light of eternal riches for all poverty! Light of rescue for all persecution! Light of reunion for all the bereft! Light of heaven for all the dying! And that light is Christ who is the Light that shall yet irradiate the hemispheres. But mark you, when I say churches are not candles but candlesticks, I cast no slur on candlesticks. I believe in beautiful candlesticks. The candlesticks that God ordered for the ancient tabernacle were something exquisite. They were a dream of beauty carved out of loveliness. They were made of hammered gold, stood in a foot of gold and had six branches of gold blooming all along in six lilies of gold each, and lips of gold from which the candles lifted their holy fire. And the best houses in any city ought to be the churches—the best built, the best ventilated, the best swept, the best windowed and the best chandeliered. Log cabins may do in neighborhoods where most of the people live in log cabins; but let there be palatial churches for regions where many of the people live in palaces. Do not have a better place for yourself than for your Lord and King. Do not live in a parlor and put your Christ in a kitchen. These seven candlesticks of which I speak were not made out of pewter or iron; they were golden candlesticks, and gold is not only a valuable but a bright metal. Have everything about your church bright—your ushers with smiling faces, your music jubilant, your hand-shaking cordial, your entire service attractive. Many people feel that in church they must look dull in order to be reverential, and many whose faces in other kinds of assemblage show all the different phases of emotion, have in church no more expression than the back wheel of a hearse. Brighten up and be responsive. If you feel like weeping, weep. If you feel like smiling, smile. If you feel indignant at some wrong assailed from the pulpit, frown. Do not leave your naturalness and resiliency home because it is Sunday morning. If, as officers of a church, you meet people at the church door with a black look, and have the music black, and the minister in black preach a black sermon, and from invocation to benediction have the impression black, few will come, and those who do come will wish they had not come at all.

Golden candlesticks! Scour up the six lilies on each branch, and know that the more lovely and bright they are, the more fit they are to hold the light. But a Christless church is a damage to the world rather than a good. Cromwell stabled his cavalry horses in St. Paul's cathedral, and many now use the church as a place in which to stable their vanities and worldliness. A worldly church is a candlestick without the candle, and it had its prototype in St. Sophia, in Constantinople, built to the glory of God by Constantine, but transformed to base uses by Mohammed the Second. Built out of colored marble, a cupola with twenty-four windows soaring to the height of 180 feet; the ceiling one great bewilderment of mosaic; galleries supported by eight columns of porphyry and sixty-seven columns of green jasper; nine bronze doors with alto-relievo work fascinating to the eye of any artist; vases and vestments incrusted with all manner of precious stones. Four walls on fire with indescribable splendor. Though labor was cheap, the building cost one million five hundred thousand dollars. Ecclesiastical structure almost supernatural in pomp and majesty. But Mohammedanism tore down from the walls of that building all the saintly and Christly images, and high up in the dome the figure of the cross was rubbed out that the crescent of the barbarous Turk might be substituted. A great church, but no Christ! A gorgeous candlestick, but no candle! Ten thousand such churches would not give the world as much light as one home made tallow candle by which last night some grandmother in the eighties put on her glasses and read the psalms of David in large type. Up with the churches by all means! Hundreds of them, thousands of them, and the more the better. But let each one be a blaze of heavenly light making the world brighter and brighter till the last shadow has disappeared, and the last of the suffering children of God shall have reached the land where they have no need of candlestick or "of candle, neither light of the sun, for the Lord God giveth them light and they shall reign forever and ever." Seven candlesticks, the complete number of lights! "Let your light so shine before men that they seeing your good works may glorify your Father which is in heaven."

THE SEVEN STARS.

Turn now in your Bible to the seven stars. We are distinctly told that they are the ministers of religion. Some of them are large stars, some of them small stars, some of them sweep a wide circuit and some of them a small circuit, but so far as they are genuine they get their light from the great central sun around whom they make revolution. Let each one keep in his own sphere. The solar system would be soon wrecked if the stars instead of keeping their own orbit should go to hunting down other stars. Ministers of religion should never clash. But in all the centuries of the Christian church some of these stars have been hunting an Edward Irving or a Horace Bushnell or an Albert Barnes; and the stars that were in pursuit of the other stars lost their own orbit and some of them could never again find it. Alas for the heresy hunters! The best way to destroy error is to preach the truth. The best way to scatter darkness is to strike a light. There is in immensity room enough for all the stars, and in the church room enough for all the ministers. The ministers who give up righteousness and the truth will get punishment enough anyhow, for they are "the wondering stars for whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever." But I should like as a minister when I am dying to be able truthfully to say what a captain of the English army, fallen at the head of his column and dying on the Egyptian battlefield, said to Gen. Wolesley who came to condole with him: "I have led them straight; did'nt I lead them straight, General?" God has put us ministers as captains in this battlefield of truth against error. Great at last will be our chagrin if we fall leading the people the wrong way; but great will be our gladness if, when the battle is over, we can hand our sword back to our great Commander, saying, "Lord Jesus! We led the people straight; didn't we lead them straight?" Those ministers who go off at a tangent and preach some other gospel are not stars but comets, and they flash across the heavens a little while and make people stare, and throw down a few meteoric stones, and then go out of sight if not out of existence. Oh, brethren in the ministry, let us remember that God calls us stars, and our business is to shine and to keep our own sphere, and then when we get done trying to light up the darkness of this world, we will wheel into higher spheres, and in us shall be fulfilled the promise "they that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars for ever and ever." Are the ministers are not all Pecksniffs and canting hypocrites, as some would have you think? Forgive me, if having in your presence at other times glorified the medical profession, and the legal profession, and the literary profession—I glorify my own. I have seen them in their homes and heard them in their pulpits, and a grander array of men never breathed, and the Bible figure is not strained when it calls them stars; and whole constellations of glorious ministers have already taken their places on high, where they shine even brighter than they shone on earth; Edward N. Kirk, of the Congregational church; Stephen H. Tyng, of the Episcopal church; Matthew Simpson, of the Methodist church; John Dowling, of the Baptist church; Samuel K. Talmage, of the Presbyterian church; Dr. De Witt, of the Reformed church; John Chambers, of the Independent church, and there I stop, for it so happens that I have mentioned the seven stars of the seven churches.

I pass on to another mighty Bible seven, and they are the seven seals. St. John in vision saw a scroll with seven seals, and he heard an angel cry: "Who is worthy to loose the seals thereof?" Take eight or ten sheets of foolscap paper, paste them together and roll them into a scroll, and have the scroll at seven different places sealed with sealing wax. You unroll the scroll till you come to one of these seals, and then you can go no further until you break that seal; then unroll again until you come to another seal and you can no further until you break that seal; then you go on until all the seven seals are broken, and the contents of the entire scroll is revealed. Now, that scroll with seven seals held by the angel was the prophecy of what was to come on the earth; it meant that the knowledge of the future was with God, and no man and no angel was worthy to open it; but the Bible says Christ opened it and broke all the seven seals. He broke the first seal, and unrolled the scroll, and there was a painting of a white horse, and that meant prosperity and triumph for the Roman empire, and so it really came to pass that for ninety years virtuous emperors succeeded each other, Nerva, Trajan and Antninus. Christ in the vision broke the second seal and unrolled again and there was a painting of a red horse, and that meant bloodshed, and so it really came to pass, and the next ninety years were red with assassinations and wars. Then Christ broke the third seal and unrolled it and there was a painting of a black horse, which in all literature means famine, oppression and taxation; and so it really came to pass. Christ went on until he broke all the seven seals and opened all the scroll. Well, the future of all of us is a sealed scroll, and I am glad that no one but Christ can open it. Do not let us join that class of Christians in our day who are trying to break the seven seals of the future. They are trying to peep into things they have no business with. They try to foretell what is going to come to them and what is going to come on the earth. They know nothing about it. Christ is the only one who can break the seal of the future. Bible prophecy was not written to help us to tell things of future date to us, but to have us, when the things actually do come to pass, compare them with prophecy and so learn God's foreknowledge and the inspiration of the Scriptures. But you go into the study of the prophecies in order to find out what is going to happen a year from now, or twenty years from now, or one thousand years from now, and I will make a prophecy of my own, and that is that you will have your brain addled, if you do not positively get into a public or private insane asylum, where the greatest of expounders and preachers of prophecy ended his life a few years since, and where you may regale the visitors of the institution by incoherent mumblings over something from Daniel or Revelations about the leopard which means Greece, and the bear which means Medo-Persia, and the image with the great toes. What a mental wreck did the persistent attempt to foretell events make of that miracle of preachers, Edward Irving, of London. It would take several mad houses to hold the demented victims of the improper use of the prophecies of Daniel and Revelation. What! are not those books to be studied? Yes. No part of the Bible is more important. Neither is there any more important shelf in that apothecary's store than the shelf on which are the belladonna and the morphine, but be more careful in using them than in the use of peppermint and ginger. Keep your hands off of the seven seals. Christ will break them soon enough. Don't go to some necromancer or spiritualist, or soothsayer, or fortune teller to find out what is going to happen to yourself, or your family, or your friends. Wait till Christ breaks the seal to find out whether in your own personal life or the life of the nation or the life of the world it is going to be the white horse of prosperity or the red horse of war or the black horse of famine. You will soon enough see him paw and hear him neigh. Take care of the present and the future will take care of itself. If a man live seventy years his biography is in a scroll having at least seven seals; and let him not during the first ten years of his life try to look into the twenties, nor the twenties into the thirties, nor the thirties into the forties, nor the forties into the fifties, nor the fifties into the sixties, nor the sixties into the seventies. From the way the years have got the habit of racing along, I guess you will not have to wait a great while before all the seals of the future are broken. I would not give two cents to know long I am going to live, or in what day of what year the world is going to be demolished. I would rather give a thousand dollars not to know. Suppose some one could break the next seal in the scroll of your personal history, and should tell you that on the 4th of July, 1800, you were to die, the summer after the next; how much would you be good for between this and that? It would from now until then be a prolonged funeral. You would be counting the months and the days, and your family and friends would be counting them; and next 4th of July you would rub your hands together and whine—"One year from today I am to go. Dear me! I wish no one had told me so long before. I wish that necromancer had not broken the seal of the future." And meeting some undertaker you would say: "I hope you will keep yourself free for an engagement the 4th of July, 1800. That day you will be headed at my house. To save time you might as well take my measure now, five feet eleven inches." I am glad that Christ dropped a thick veil over the hour of our demise and the hour of the world's destruction when he said: "Of that day and hour knoweth no man; no, not the angels, but my Father only." Keep your hands off the seven seals.

THE SEVEN THUNDERS.

There is another mighty seven of the Bible, viz., the seven thunders. What those thunders meant we are not told, and there has been much guessing about them; but they are to come, we are told, before the end of all things, and the world cannot get along without them. Thunder is the speech of lightning. There are evils in our world which must be thundered down, and which will require at least seven volleys to prostrate them. We are all doing nice, delicate, soft handed work in churches and reformatory institutions against the evils of the world, and much of it amounts to a teaspoon dipping out the Atlantic ocean, or a clam shell digging away at a mountain or a tack hammer smiting the Gibraltar. What is needed is thunderbolts, and at least seven of them. There is the long line of fraudulent commercial establishments; every stone in the foundation, and every brick in the wall, and every nail in the rafter made out of dishonesty; skeletons of poorly paid sewing girls' arms in every beam of that establishment; human nerves worked into every figure of that embroidery; blood in the deep dye of that genuflected upholstery; billions of dollars of accumulated fraud entrenched in massive storehouses and stock companies manipulated by unscrupulous men until the monopoly is defiant of all earth and all heaven. How shall the evil be overcome? By treatises on the maxim, Honesty is the best policy? Or by soft repetition of the golden rule that we must "do to others as we would have them do to us?" No, it will not be done that way. What is needed, and what will come, is the seven thunders. There is drunkenness backed up by a capital mightier than in any other business. Intoxicating liquors enough in this country to float a navy. Good grain to the amount of 67,950,000 bushels annually destroyed to make the deadly liquid. Breweries, distilleries, gin shops, rum palaces, liquor associations, our nation spending annually seven hundred and forty millions of dollars for rum, resulting in bankruptcy, disease, pauperism, filth, assassination, death, illimitable woe. What will stop them? High license? No. Prohibition laws? No. Churches? No. Moral suasion? No. Thunderbolts will do it; nothing else will. Seven thunders.

INFIDELITY AND ATHEISM.

Yonder are intrenched infidelity and atheism, with their magazines of literature scoffing at our Christianity; their Hoe printing presses busy day and night. There are their blaspheming apostles, their drunken Tom Paines and libertine Voltaires of the present as well as the past, re-enforced by all the powers of darkness from highest demon to lowest imp. What will extirpate those monsters of infidelity and atheism? John Brown's shorter catechism about "Who made you?" or Westminster catechism about "What is the chief end of man?" No, thunderbolts! The seven thunders!

For the impurities of the world empalaced as well as collared, spauletted as well as ragged, enthroned as well as ditched; for corrupt legislation which at times makes our state and national capitals a hemispheric stench; for superstitions that keep whole nations in smalor century after century, and Juggernauts crushing their slaves incarcerating, their waters drowning, their funeral pyres burning, the seven thunders!

Oh, men and women, disheartened at the bad way things often go, hear you not a rumbling down the sky of heavy artillery, coming in on our side, the seven thunders of the Almighty? Don't let us try to wield them ourselves; they are too heavy and too fiery for us to handle; but God can and God will; and when all mercy has failed and all milder means are exhausted, then judgment will begin. Thunderbolts! Depend upon it, that what is not done under the flash of the seven candlesticks will be done by the transpiling of the seven thunders.

But I leave this imperial and multipotent numeral seven, where the Bible leaves it, imbedded in the finest wall that was ever built, or ever will be constructed, the wall of heaven. It is the seventh strata of precious stones that make up that wall. Among the twelve of the precious stones in that wall, the Bible cries out—"the seventh chrysolite!" The chrysolite is an exquisite green, and in that seventh layer of the heavenly wall shall be preserved forever the dominant color of the earth we once inhabited. I have sometimes been saddened at the thought that this world, according to science and revelation, is to be blotted out of existence, for it is such a beautiful world. But here in this layer of the heavenly wall, where the numeral seven is to be embedded, this strata of green is to be photographed and embalmed and perpetuated, the color of the grass that covers the earth, the color of the foliage that fills the forest, the color of the deep sea. One glance at that green chrysolite, a million years after this planet has been extinguished, will bring to mind just how it looked in summer and spring, and we will say to those who were born blind on earth, and never saw at all in this world, after they have obtained full eyesight in heaven: "If you would know how the earth appeared in June and August, look at that seventh layer of the heavenly wall, the green of the chrysolite." And while we stand there and talk, spirit with spirit, that old color of the earth which had more sway than all the other colors put together, will bring back to us our earthly experiences, and noticing that this green chrysolite is the seventh layer of crystallized magnificence, we may betthink ourselves of the domination of that numeral seven over all other numerals, and thank God that in the dark earth we left behind us we so long enjoyed the light of the seven golden candlesticks, and were all of us permitted to shine among the seven stars of more or less magnitude, and that all the seven seals of the mysterious future have been broken wide open for us by a loving Christ, and that the seven thunders having done their work have ceased reverberation, and that the numeral seven, which did such tremendous work in the history of nations on earth, has been given such a high place in that Niagara of colors, the wall of heaven, "the first foundation of which is jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, a chalcedony; the fourth, an emerald; the fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, sardius; the seventh, chrysolite."

When shall these eyes thy heaven built walls
And pearly gates behold;
Thy bulwarks with salvation strong,
And streets of shining gold?

His Honor said he was glad to hear that the boy was going away. There was no reason why he should not become a good seaman, and probably in the future he might be a captain. Roscamp was allowed to go on condition that he would leave the province.

MR. MOODY'S FAREWELL.

A Large Audience—Appeal for the Y. M. C. A.

The large roller rink was crowded last evening to hear Mr. Moody's farewell address. No sooner had the choir assembled and commenced their songs of praise than the crowd began pouring in. At 8 o'clock every seat was occupied and crowds assembled round the door till the platform was crowded down to the sidewalk by those unable to gain admittance. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Brown, rendered some very fine singing. A few solos were also sung, the choir and audience joining in the chorus, which had a splendid effect. After the usual prayer and singing, Mr. Moody addressed the audience with an appeal for aid and assistance to the Y. M. C. A., an institution of which he could well speak of from his own personal experience, and "bore testimony" of their excellent and beneficial work of the association, especially in the great cities of the west. Many young men leaving their homes in the country, on coming to a great city amidst the throng or hurry and bustle, felt themselves very lonely. In such a crowd where you knew no one it was very lonely indeed. The Association in Victoria needed the assistance of all earnest Christians anxious to keep or rescue young men from the saloons, the gambling dens, the billiard halls or the brothels which are sown broadcast to entrap the young and unwary just entering on the battle of life. Little was done by those who professed to love Christ to provide comfortable rooms and healthy, enjoyable employment of the young men's leisure hours. The officers of the Association and the well qualified secretaries were ever ready to help and advise the friendless and provide employment for them. They have been an assistance in countless ways, and are the best means possible to counteract the baneful influences and temptations by which young men are surrounded on all sides. Some cry that the Association is very expensive; this is misleading. The money thus spent makes a good return, Mr. Moody then appealed to the audience for a subscription which would now be taken up, and the distribution of collecting cards so that absent ones would be able to share in the contributions.

While the collection was being taken up (which amounted to over $300) the choir sang a hymn in excellent style. After a short prayer Mr. Moody commenced his address. He said: "Last night I told you about the Prodigal Son. I will talk to you to-night about a different character. Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, assembled an army and besieged Jerusalem. The Holy City fell into his hands and he took away with him as captive slaves 20,000 men. In that number were four young men who had found religion. They may have got it from Jeremiah, the Prophet, whom the Jews had dispersed and ill treated. No doubt they had attended his prayer meetings. It was a religion that was worth having, one that would bear transplanting. They had not been long in Babylon till they were subjected to a great temptation. Most men are ruined after the first temptation. It is the first trial that tests a man's courage most. Their first temptation came, Nebuchadnezzar selected them from amongst the other captives and ordered them to be received into his house and to be educated; it was ordered that they were to eat at his table of the same food and drink the same wine. But they said no! because it would have been polution, and demanded only pulse and water and hope. They told the captain that they would look as well and as comely as others on that simple diet. Many would have done otherwise, would have thought it a great honor to eat the same food and drink the same wine as the king. They refused to eat and drink what had been offered to idols. This was the keynote of Daniel's character. Many compromising Christians would have acted differently; they would say when you are in Rome you must do as the Romans do. They would have taken the food and wine of the king. They consider that a big red nose is an ornament and to think that they improve their complexions by filling themselves with whiskey and tobacco. Daniel having withstood the first temptation did not find the next so hard. He rose to power and rank in the house of Nebuchadnezzar. He was the Bismarck behind the throne of the King of Babylon! The next trial was the officer who came to arrest Daniel and take him to execution. All the wise men were ordered to be executed, for they could not interpret a dream the King had. The dream troubled the King. Daniel said he could interpret the dream. This was a pleasant surprise to the officers. They retired that night and held their first prayer meeting that we know of; they might have done so before. They slept and God came to Daniel in a dream and told him what he should tell Nebuchadnezzar. The morning came and Daniel went to the King and told him his dream and the interpretation thereof. How the great and beautiful city should be taken away from him and his power should pass away to a strange but less beautiful powers. The Medes and Persians and the Empire of Rome! The King's mind was relieved, he was greatly pleased with Daniel and exhalted him and his three friends to power and position in the kingdom. Do you think that if these men had spent their time in hanging round the saloons and billiard halls that they would have been raised to high position. Not a bit of it. Righteousness always exhalts, sin degrades. We want men who can say "no" or "yes" and stick to it. The Lord always tests his children. They were not long till they had another test. The King built a great brazen image and set it up on the plains and every one was commanded to bow down and worship it when the bands played. Daniel was away, perhaps on business, but his three friends were there. They would not bow down and worship the image. The laws of God and the laws of the King conflicted. When the music played their enemies were on the watch. No one had more enemies than the true Christian, every one is on the watch to pick a hole in their actions. Some Christians would have bowed down; they'd have said it was only a mere form, nothing more. These young men scorned the appearance of evil. They stood firm and straight. Their backbone wouldn't bend. I like to see man with a good backbone that won't bow to sin. The King ordered them to his presence and asked if the report was true. They said "yes." Shadrack replied firmly that he and his friends could not obey the King. They were condemned to the terrible death of the burning fiery furnace. The King was wroth. The furnace was heated seven times—so hot that the strong men who put them in the flames were consumed. They were cast in, clothes and all. The King looked in the furnace and saw not three men, but four men walking about; the clothing had been burned up. The king thought that the fourth looked like the son of God. They had stood up for God and he had not deserted them. The king was convinced, converted, and the decree went forth that no man should speak a word against the God of the Hebrews. We want to-day men of principle that will stand up for God, men who will live up to the bible. Many are laughed out of their principles. Nebuchadnezzar had another dream which he remembered. He wanted it interpreted. Daniel told him what it meant, and preached righteousness to him. Twelve months later the kingdom was taken from him, and he lived with the wild beasts, an outcast from his fellow men for seven years. He returned to his kingdom and his proclamation showed that he had been born of God. He walks the shining streets of Heaven to-day won for the God of Heaven by the young man Daniel. It was about 15 years later that the young King Balshazzar the warlike, had a great feast. The gold vessels of the Temple of the Lord were used and desecrated. Suddenly the mysterious hand was seen writing on the wall Balshazzar's doom. Daniel was sent for. He read it. That very night the Persian army took the city. They had diverted the course of the great river and taken the Babylonians unawares. Darius ascended the throne, a conquering king. He knew Daniel's worth and kept him in power. He made him the leading man in the kingdom. The other politicians and governors were not satisfied with Daniel, who would not countenance "boodle" and they conspired to get him out of the way. They secretly made the king sign a decree that no man was to pray to his God for thirty days. Whosoever did so was to be cast into the den of lions. The grey-haired old statesman Daniel prayed to his God with his face towards Jerusalem three times a day. His enemies knew this. They caught him in the act and told the king. The king was grieved for the laws of the Medes and Persians were unaltered. Daniel was cast into the den of lions bound in chains, but his God had sealed the lions' mouths. Early next morning the people of Babylon were surprised to see the King, who had a restless night, ride through the streets in his chariot towards the lions' den. When he got there he called out "Ho, Daniel! is your God able to save you?" and Daniel answered him. How glad the King was when Daniel came forth unharmed. My friends, we separate to-night, perhaps not to meet again on this earth. In a short time the battle of life will be over. Will you stand up for God Now? Stand up for your churches and for any institution that is doing good. You see men on all sides going the downward path rapidly—the drunkards, the liars, gamblers and rogues. None of them can enter the Kingdom of God. Young men rise and ask God to help you. What a grand thing if you would take the stand Daniel did. How you would close up the saloons, the billiard halls, the gambling dens and the places of infamy that are ruining your young men and young women. Let you take a stand to-night as did Daniel of old. Stand and be firm.

Many went to the enquiry room while the hymn was being sung. Rev. Mr. McLeod pronounced the benediction and the immense concourse separated.

The revival services will be continued every day and evening. In the evening in the Pandora Street Methodist Church at 8 o'clock. Mr. Studd remains in the city to carry on the good work.

OUR MUSICAL COLUMN.

A Few Notes on Local Musical Events.

The Victoria Choral Society is now fairly under way, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Moody was holding meetings this week. A goodly number attended the second rehearsal on Wednesday evening last. The choruses, "Oh Father Whose Almighty Power," "We Come in Bright Array," "Hear Us, Oh Lord," and "See, the Conquering Hero Comes," from "Judas Maccabeus," were rehearsed and the progress already made does credit to the Society's conductor, Prof. Sharpe.

Generally speaking it is expected that improvement in singing will take place by constant practice, but the union choir at Mr. Moody's meetings has been an exception. Some evenings the singing was wretched, neither time nor tune, probably caused by absence of either Mr. Sharpe or Mr. Brown. Both these gentlemen seem to have a fancy for a hymn entitled "Calvary," having sung it no less than three times during the week. Last night's singing was better than usual. Miss O'Neil's solo being very tastefully rendered, but her voice was too weak for such a large building.

All musical events seemed to have been hanging fire since Mr. Moody's advent amongst us, but in the course of the next two weeks we will have a regular deluge of entertainments of all kinds.

First on the list is the First Presbyterian Church Choir concert, who have gotten up a really "class" programme. Demi Semi Quaver is at a loss to know how Mr. Brown managed to find time to attend to all the work in connection with giving such an entertainment. However, he is young and energetic and if Monday's performance will be on a par with the selections, the Presbyterian Choir and conductor will have reason to feel proud.

Demi Semi Quaver notices the appearance on a programme again of the name of one of Victoria's best vocalists, Lt. Col. Prior, M. P. P. The public would like to hear oftener from him but business, private and public, has of late prevented it. The First Presbyterian choir are lucky in securing his services. Demi Semi Quaver will be one of the crowd that will attend the concert on Monday evening next.

Amongst other interesting events to take place soon will be the Bazaar and concert under the auspices of the ladies of St. James Church.
